WORKING OF PENSION AGE IS REQUESTED

Increase In Amount Paid Is Urged In Petition In House Of Commons

OTTAWA, June 15.—Petition that Canadians become eligible for old age pensions at 65 instead of 70 years of age and that pension be increased from the $250 a year now provided was laid before parliament yesterday by A. W. Neil, 72-year-old independent member from Nova Scotia.

The veteran British Columbia member was almost obscured from the view by his neighbors by leaflet-covered carions containing the petition bearing 37,409 signatures from some 150 personal letters.

There were many signatures from the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and part of Ontario, he said, that copies were circulated in the different areas.

He produced one rolled petition, picked his finger in the end and produced a paper some seven feet long. That particular roll, said Mr. Neil, was 41 feet long and contained 412 signatures.

"I have not counted the signatures," he remarked dryly, with the deep burr of Scotland in his voice. "If anyone wishes to check the accuracy he may do so."

The petition called, said Mr. Neil, that the cost of shelter for a single individual is at least $10, and that a further sum of 25 per cent is inadequate to provide the necessities of life, including food, clothing, medical care, etc.

"That thousands of persons in Canada over 65 years of age are in need of support and are unable to compete in the labor market."

BRITAIN TAKES OVER DOMINION 1940-50 STOCKS

LONDON, June 15.—The treasury announced last night it is acquiring all the holdings of Canada four per cent stock maturing 1940-1950 now in the hands of Dominion residents.

Under the defence (finance) regulations the treasury is authorized to acquire the first required financial resources of the United Kingdom to make returns of the bonds of the Bank of England not later than June 20 and restricted dealings in such holdings.

Under the second such holdings are vested in the treasury at a price of £10 12s 6d per £100 stock delivery.

Payment will be made July 1 to the agency through which the securities are delivered, provided full delivery has been completed by June 21. Payment for securities delivered subsequently will be made seven days after receipt of the documents by the bank of England.

LACK OF ARMS, NOT MONEY, BIG ALLIED PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, June 15.—United States officials estimated yesterday that the British and French empires will have roughly 400,000 tons of "quick assets" with which they could purchase supplies immediately in the United States. These assets include gold, cash deposits and American securities held by the Allies.

The officials, however, indicated that lack of materials to be bought quickly was much more of a problem to the Allies than the availability of cash for payment. They pointed out that in spite of pressing needs for airplanes since the war began, the Allies have had to sign arm contracts for planes not expected to be ready for delivery until September, 1941.

War department officials said exhaustive surveys are being made to determine what additional surplus equipment is available for sale to the Allies.

Ludwig Predicts Allied Triumph In Present War

NEW YORK, June 15.—Germany has won the first phase of the war but the outcome of the conflict will be favorable to the Allies, Ludwig, noted German author and biographer, said here yesterday. Ludwig, a Swiss citizen in the United States, came to New York for two days ago on a lecture tour.

In an interview, he voiced his opinion. "With the help of American planes and armaments, England and America will stop the march of the German."

"The author termed President Roosevelt 'the greatest statesman in the world today.'"

WAR TO WIN, WOR FOREVER
SIMON SAYS

LONDON, June 15.—"The war will go on to victory or it will go on to defeat," said Simon, a noted Canadian author, in a speech yesterday.

Simon told a Yorkshire audience that the war will continue as long as it is fought with the aid of the Allies.

"It is a vile and horrible thing for it denies both in theory and in fact the existence of the human race," he said, "but it is essential to the life of free men and women."

Registration Is Considered Premier Says

OTTAWA, June 15.—The question of national registration "has been, and will be, receiving constant and careful consideration," Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the House of Commons Friday in answer to a question from Conservative Leader Hanson.

Mr. Hanson asked if the government would adopt national registration in view of the Prime Minister's message to Premier Reynaud of France pledging Canada's full resources to the support of France.

Mr. King said he would answer the question in the affirmative if he were asked the registration would achieve the purpose Mr. Hanson had in mind. Until he did reach that view all he could say was that the matter was receiving consideration.

NAZI CONSUL ATTACKS AID GIVEN ALLIES

German Official Criticizes U.S.'s Help To France and Britain

NEW ORLEANS, June 15.—A German consul general, predicting a German victory over France, yesterday said the United States "will not forget that when she was fighting together for her very life, the United States gave every material aid to her enemies."

The statement was made by Baron Edgar von Spiegel, consul general of Germany in New Orleans, in an interview with a New Orleans States reporter. He later said he had not meant to talk for publication.

Wearily, he said, a 24-hour one-man guard had been stationed at Von Spiegel's home. It could not be ascertained whether, however, the police action was a result of the consul's statement.

Von Spiegel's name figured in the Diet committee hearings in Washington last August when President John H. Sherman of Tampa (Fla.) told the committee that the German had been a resident of Victoria, B.C., since the start of the war.

Until the recently announced departure of Canadian destroyers for service in British home waters, they operated off the Canadian Atlantic coast and were largely responsible for the failure of enemy submarines to put in an appearance in those waters.

Von Spiegel was a U-boat commander in the Pacific during the capture by the British in 1917.

Pittman Sarcastic On Nazi Statement

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Senator Pittman, chairman of the United States Senate foreign relations committee, commented sarcastically yesterday on the statement of the German consul general in New Orleans criticizing the United States for aiding the Allies.

"If (Baron Edgar) von Spiegel was quoted correctly, he is insulting," said Pittman (R-Nev.), "and it is too valuable to Hitler to remain longer in this country."

Rep. Blaine (D-Nev.), chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, said the state department might wish to consider Von Spiegel's remarks, but he added, Von Spiegel probably would be replaced with "someone just as bad."

BOYS' SCHOOL MAY BE MOVED TO DOMINION

LONDON, June 15.—The Daily Mail said today that the Altrincham school, which has an enrolment of 400 boys, may be the first English school to be evacuated to Canada.

All parents have been asked by Headmaster W. Hamilton whether they would accept in principle the evacuation of their son to Canada.

The duration of the stay would be determined by the school authorities, whether they are prepared to make some compromise towards late and travelling expenses.

More than 400 fathers and mothers met yesterday to discuss the question, and it was announced that the decision would be made known next week.

The Mail said a plan to send 10,000 British school children to the United States for the duration is under consideration by an official committee of three members of parliament.

N. Braitwaite, Josiah C. Wedgwood, and J. R. Robinson, major British warships, were quoted as saying that the duration of the stay would be determined by the school authorities, whether they are prepared to make some compromise towards late and travelling expenses.

When Mrs. Harriet Bourchard, at the oldest citizen in Faust, was confined to her bed last winter with a broken hip, she was brought her some grapefruit—that was some time in January, she can't recall the exact date.

Just to be doing something to help fill the dragging hours she was ordered an early can which changed to be in the room filled with soil and brought to her the plants of the seed which sprouted and grew to the present size.

With a start one day last week she recognized the scent of orange blossoms. Following the fragrance to the miniature grapefruit trees in the window, what was her amazement to find that they had blossomed and were the source of the sweetness that she had smelt.

Irishman Recalls First Trans-Atlantic Flight 21 Years Ago Saturday

By SPUD MURPHY

"Twenty-one years ago June 13 my concentration on an Irish breakfast was disturbed by the droning of an airplane overhead. I cooked a careless ear to the sound, wondering if the airplane came from Dublin, Cork or Galway, and continued munching toast and marmalade."

The purling engine overhead was the first intimation to John Flanagan, Winnipeg salesman, that an epic flight had been accomplished; that the Atlantic had been mastered for the first time by the airplane under the control of John Alick and Arthur Brown.

Mr. Flanagan, a recent business visitor to Edmonton, confirmed his story to me.

Breakfast over, I cautioned from my cottage to investigate. The air plane still circled overhead. It was a bi-motored ship—a craft strange in the district—but the inhabitants of Clifden, Galway, took little interest.

"No lights flashed from the ship, but still the inhabitants took no notice. Breakfast at Clifden was a pleasure not lightly to be interrupted.

A few more very lights were first from the airplane. Still the villagers looked on with indifference. They thought it was just another airplane crew practicing over the local wireless station and continued to watch with lazy interest.

"Then the airplane engines ceased to hum. Its nose was pointed down toward a green level strip of land below the village and the wireless station. Immediately the slightly interested spectators were attracted into action. The ship was heading into an Irish bog and landing, as it happened, in a bog where the fens landed safely, although the plane was damaged.

"I reached the landing place just as a group of soldiers and civilians from the wireless station were greeting two aviators with looks that plainly said, 'why in hell pop a bog to land in?'

The aviators announced that they had just come over from Newfoundland. It is just as well they were deaf from the roar of the engines. The explicit remarks of some of the

Story Behind Printing To Be Told In Display At Edmonton's Library

By J. HARPER PROWSE

It is a far call from the day when books were penned, painstakingly by hand to today when roaring presses turn out thousands of newspapers every hour, carrying news out to anxious readers' houses and sometimes only minutes after events have taken place.

It is, in fact, just 300 years since the invention of movable type, and to celebrate the centenary of the development of printing through the ages will be on view at Edmonton's public library, June 17 to 21.

The display is being held in connection with the celebration of the 300th anniversary of the invention of movable type in which Edmonton printing craftsmen are taking part.

Citizens will be able to view a page from a book printed by Wynken de Worde in Westminster in 1487—a page which is perforated with the holes left by a workman which are still visible through the ancient volume long before Drake's small boats swept for Spanish Armada from England's coast.

On view too will be actual copies of the London Times, one of them printed on Tuesday, June 15, 1915, carrying Wellington's own account of the Battle of Waterloo, while another, printed in 1798, carried the notice of the famous Battle of the Nile.

Featured in the exhibit will be books of great value to the collector, and others of historical interest, such as the first issue of the London Times, one of the first issues of the London Times, one of the first issues of the London Times.

The work of compiling the material for the exhibit was done by Mrs. J. E. Harprow, who is in charge of the library. The exhibit will be on view from June 17 to 21, and will be open to the public during the hours of the library.

SEVEN DOTS

Here are seven dots inside a rectangle.

Can you draw three straight lines which cross each other in such a way that they separate each dot from the other six?

Answer Monday.

Solution to yesterday's puzzle, Beans and Fruits: The pairs should have been read across in rows, instead of downwards in columns. Thus the first two pairs would be: BILALACHONG SHALLOOT.

In this row (the first row), the beans were on the top (BILALACHONG and SHALLOOT), and the food words are below (BALACHONG and SHALLOOT).

Living-Room Comfort Goes Outdoors

NEWEST GARDEN FURNITURE IS MADE FOR EASE

NEW YORK—There's a deep, rich look of comfort about the latest and newest furniture for garden, porch and terrace.

Designers of chairs, tables and sofas obviously have decided that the porch or garden is for "relaxing in the sun" rather than for show.

Not that this years outdoor furnishings aren't perfectly handsome. They are indeed. So much so that every family is bound to be encouraged to make plans for spending most of the summer months out of the house rather than in it.

ALL SUGGEST: "RELAX."

But even small wicker chairs for the stone-topped porch are really comfortable. Even the smallest sofas have soft, thick pillows—covered with waterproof fabrics, to be sure. Medium-sized chairs lounge in wicker or rattan and cane have none of the canvas beach chair look about them, yet are just as conducive to relaxation as any beach chair ever was.

A stunning bridge set for a permanent furniture group on the porch includes a square table and four chairs—all in cane and rattan with bright red, waterproof cushions. The chairs are usable in other corners, of course.

Wrought iron divans, chairs and chairs for the garden are rust-proof and chip-proof. Perfectly stunning dining tables and small, occasional tables come

A decidedly pleasant spot to spend a summer afternoon or evening is this terrace, attractively furnished in the English manner. Furniture includes two fine wicker chairs; new chairs of iron faced with rawhide; a wheelbarrow bench, which can be moved about; a curved wicker bench and several extra tables.

PLAN NOW FOR SUMMER "PLACE IN THE SUN"

In the same practical material with plain glass tops.

"Also be sure to have suitable massive racks, plenty of sun trays and cigarette humidors for keeping cigarettes really dry," says Virginia Connor, noted decorator and decorator. "Think of your garden as an outdoor living room."

"Too often," Miss Connor continues, outdoor furniture which keeps well in the show room fails to harmonize with the garden color scheme or the needs of its users. This can be avoided by a little advance planning.

"Buy a chair for a certain spot. Don't get the chair and then try to find a place to put it."

Amos & Virginia Connor offer helpful suggestions for planning and enjoying an outdoor living room at night—even if the sea cushions themselves are waterproof.

Slatted covers may be slotted during the day under one of the larger wicker chairs.

"Place furniture in both sunny and shady spots. (For the convenience of the sun worshipper as well as the basker.)"

Keep your outdoor furniture well sheltered to prevent rough edges that run along and along.

Don't choose beach furniture for a suburban garden or do have fragile porch chairs and sofas for the backyard of a rustic, country place. Outdoor furniture should blend with the background.

BETTER HEAT IMPROVEMENT IN DWELLINGS

New System Gives Lower Fuel Cost—Saves Space In Small Homes

There is essentially the era of the small home. In the four years since the National Housing Act has been in force, only 12 per cent of the loans have exceeded $10,000.

The saving towards the small inexpensive home is not, however, an indication of lower standards of comfort, durability and convenience points out the Institute. Small homes today are more than ever carefully planned, well built and equipped for efficiency and comfort. Keeping pace with the rapid developments in small home planning and construction is the steady progress made by the plumbing and heating industries in the development of space saving and convenient Modern radiators, for example, designed on slenderized lines, have lost 40 per cent of their bulk and require very little floor space. In fact, even more significant with respect to space economy is the compact vector type which can be tucked in the wall where it is completely out of the way.

The decrease in the size of the radiator and piping has in no way resulted in a decrease of heating comfort, says the Institute. Improving improvements in the construction of the modern boiler, automatic heating with forced circulation, and dependable safety controls have made it possible to carry high temperatures of water in the radiator system and maintain an even dependable heat at all times.

Increased efficiency in the combustion of fuel in the boiler has resulted in lower operating costs. Moreover, modern hot water or steam boilers, designed for coal, gas or oil consumption, not only heat the house, but provide for domestic hot water heating as well. In fact, every improvement has been designed to ensure the Canadian householder greater return on his heating expenditure.

Owners of older type homes whose heating equipment has been in use for several years, may also enjoy all the benefits of modern heating improvements, which can be easily financed under the terms of the Home Improvement Plan, by application to any branch bank.

Aeronautical material amounting to $25,488.81 was exported from the United States during January, 1940.

Trends In Wall Paper

By JAMES H. LIBERTY

Today . . . for 1939 in wall papers we note:

Colors—Pastels for backgrounds and rose-red as the two definitely high-style colors. Warm the terracotta and brick shades.

The "Green" and "Blue" colors. Off-white, such as paper or cream, grey, powder pink, soft blue, off-white, yellowish-white with shagreened lines.

Design—The French palette from the Louis period will be much in evidence. Look at bed, for the phiniana in full bloom and you will see in general the color of the future in wall papers for next year.

In the volume class blue is undoubtedly the most popular color—followed by mauve, tan, green, dusty pink and peach. Soft-line patterns as a foil for the big, busy, busy patterns will appear in living-rooms.

Design—Simplification of detail a continued trend towards elegance and sophistication—plus extensive selections are the keynote.

Regency is the high-style theme and will not pass down in the volume field as the Baroque in some extent, which although still considered high-style by many lacks the new value it had last year.

Florals—an annually—are of fundamental importance and appear in almost equal amounts in stylized and naturalistic regional motifs.

Stripes are still popular in applique, color combinations—many lines combined with conventional motifs.

Mid-twentieth Century English design is most popular—followed by Early American. French Provincial and Modified Colonial—the latter occasioned by the popularity of Williamsburg Colonial mahogany furniture.

Modern—still the big home of contemporary design is the most popular. The "so-called" Swedish Modern influence tends to revive interest in modern and it is to be hoped that the New York World's Fair will inspire and foster a good, sensible, attractive contemporary American style in decoration.

In order to obtain more accurate wood turned footings on the new Bowling Staircases a $10,000 model was built and tested. The results of the model was one-tenth of the size of the actual piece.

ALLIED PLANES ATTACK CITIES

Airplane and Naval Assaults Made Against Peninsula
By REYNOLDS PACKARD
British United Press Exclusive Cable

ROME, June 15—An official statement today admitted 11 killed and 22 wounded in Allied naval and air attacks against Italian cities, including towns near Genoa. All the places attacked were considered military objectives.

Italian troops, in the first real action on the French Alpine frontier, said they took some positions in French territory and Italian torpedo boats claimed to have sunk one Allied destroyer and to have damaged another. These claims could not be verified from Allied sources.

Shooting The 'Chute At Coney Island

At Imperia Allied naval units shelled the town. It was announced officially also that Allied airplanes which flew over Venice wounded eight persons and that last night British planes, after dropping leaflets asserting that the war had been started by Premier Benito Mussolini,

Capital Close-Ups

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA, June 13.—When Hon. J. L. Ralston brings down the budget next week in his last speech finance minister, Canadians will see a dollar-and-cent picture of what the Dominion is throwing into its fight.

Mr. Average Citizen will probably be affected more than in any udget in years. No taxes, new schemes of war finance, new plans to back up the troops with Canadian resources are slated for inclusion in the most extensive budget in the country's history.

When the speech is over, Col. Johnston leaves the finance portfolio and this soldier-lawyer takes over here the late Hon. Norman Rogers tragically left off in directing plan calls for them to be settled in private homes . . . Summer camps may be used if the influx reaches large proportions . . .

Police were called to investigate the burglary of C. Barbeau's Store, 129 avenue and 119 street, Friday night. According to the proprietor, burglars who broke a front window, secured only a large butcher knife.
